Footnote:

(1) This is speaking of how the University of The New Covenant works. Tuition free, each person comes into this University, reading all the words in THE CENTRAL DATABASE which is comprised of the words given us now over the last 5 years. These form the foundation of study along with the current words being given and posted into the Database. While reading these each one learns how to form "lessons" from these messages that form teaching materials that begin to form courses. The University of The New Covenant is a school to birth schools, and all who enter will be part of the birthing process to help birth schools far and wide; often forming schools that the "student" will lead. This is all part of the Meonics Degree program, the first program which all go through, as faculty staff and students are one, and work together in the model of surrender that transcends a normal "teacher-student" model. For more information see the University of The New Covenant website. Thank you.
